Our funding in Scotland

We fund the things that matter most to communities. Our funding programmes help communities to respond to the challenges and opportunities they are facing by bringing people together to help them and their communities thrive.

We know people, communities and organisations are facing increased demands and challenges as a result of the cost-of-living crisis. If you would like to talk to us about a project in response to this, please contact us at advicescotland@tnlcommunityfund.org.uk

People being meaningfully involved in the development, design and delivery of your activity.

Understanding, complementing and joining up with what others are doing locally.

Making the most of and building upon existing strengths and assets within people and communities.
